Former Crossfield Girl Exchanges Wedding Vows

In the glow of candlelight, Cut Bank Presbyterian church, Cut Bank, Mont., was tastefully decorated with gladioli, stocks and summer flowers on Saturday, June 28 at 7 p.m., when Rev. A. B. Henn united in marriage Catherine Dorothy, R.N., eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Marles of Calgary, formerly of Madden, and Mr. Bruce E. Werner of Cut Bank, Mont.

Fete Bride-Elect

CROSSFIELD—The Masonic hall, on Thursday, July 10, at 8:30 p.m., was the setting for a pretty miscellaneous shower feting Miss Katie Kotow, bride-elect of this month.

The hall was conveniently arranged with long table for gifts and graced with dainty vases of pinks. An attractive tea table adorned with colorful peonies, silver, and fine china, and rows of guest chairs faced the honored chairs, over which white and pink streamers converged to a pretty group of white wedding bells.

Assisting the honored guest were her sister Joyce and Miss Ada Jensen. The Sunday school teachers and group leaders were here for the well-organized function, and presented Katie with a lovely deep red rose corsage, for which she thanked them graciously.

The gifts were presented in a pink and white basket featuring an oil derrick, and were drawn in by Russel Banta and Judy Mansell. There were many very lovely gifts, for which Katie suitably voiced her thanks, especially remembering the girls who had made her shower possible.

Miss Joanne Copley delighted those present with her vocal selection "I'll Walk Beside You", accompanied by Mrs. Charney.

A very delicious lunch was served to well over 60 guests and thoroughly enjoyed.

Mrs. Ball and Mrs. Kotow had a surprise visit on Monday shared the honors at the tea urns.

Wife Of Alberta Cabinet Minister Active In Parliamentary Women's Work

OTTAWA—Mrs. George Prudham, wife of Alberta's minister in the Dominion Cabinet, is an active worker in an association of Ottawa women whose husbands are members of Parliament.

The ladies have the reputation of being hard, consistent workers at the knitting and sewing projects they undertake. And Mrs. Prudham is one of the most enthusiastic boosters of this group which helps to dispel the loneliness of women who find themselves far from home, with a husband who works, often, 16 hours a day on committees, parliamentary and party work in the nation's capital.

Recently the M.P.'s wives put on a display of work done by the group during the spring and winter months.

Afghans squared in warm reds, yellows and browns, were hung on the wall, and piled neatly in rows were baby's knitted hats, coats and booties, at a display of work by the knitting group of the Parliamentary Women's Association.

The display held in the ladies lounge at the Parliament Buildings, revealed the results of many months of clicking knitting needles, and needles worked through cloth.

Two complete baby's layettes including diapers, sheets, and clothing will be sent to the Canadian Save the Children Fund while the warm afghans will be distributed to military hospitals across the country.

Each Wednesday since March members of the group have met to combine their efforts in aiding the hospitals and the fund. The association is headed by Mrs. W. M. Benidickson.

Receiving guests during the afternoon was the general convener, Mrs. W. G. Weir. Conveners representing all groups of the association were: Mrs. Victor Quelch, Mrs. George Prudham, Mrs. J. J. Smith, Mrs. R. R. Knight, Mrs. C. E. Johnston, Mrs. F. H. Larson, Mrs. W. D. Wylie, and Mrs. J. L. MacDougall.

Following the display tea was held in the Parliamentary dining room under the convensership of Mrs. Walter Little.

The baby, Thelma, was not badly hurt and will soon be released from hospital. Joyce will be in hospital for some time however and the best wishes for her recovery are extended by all.

Farm Policy

The aftermath of two world wars with intervening depressions has brought about a complete change in governmental attitude toward agriculture. The historic attitude towards farming and the marketing of farm products prior to 1914 was that of non-interference by governments. The great depression was the main motivating force which brought about striking changes.

Today a political party could not achieve power in the United States if it opposed the farm policy now in effect. That policy provides for floor prices under the principle of unperishable farm commodities based on a parity figure calculated to sustain farm buying power.

Such a program has cost the United States government large sums of money. Consumers have also had to pay a reasonable price for their food. At the same time, United States farmers have enjoyed price security and have increased production to a substantial degree.

The Canadian government has developed a modest policy of price protection for farm commodities; it has not approached the generosity of what the United States has done for its farmers. The cost to the Canadian public has been comparatively slight. Of the $200 million appropriated by Canada's parliament for farm products price protection some years ago, only $10 million has been spent, according to Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture.

Those who oppose the policy of price protection for farm products are living in an antiquated agriculture. Farmers have seen how business interests develop price protection through close organization. Those same farmers are determined never again to expose themselves to the vagaries and uncertainties of the speculative market which is unable to provide them with any kind of price protection.

A Man-Made Satellite

Recently, Werner von Braun, in a lecture delivered in Huntsville, Ala., declared that it was possible to build a wheel-shaped satellite 250 feet wide that could travel around the earth, in about two hours, maintaining a distance of about a thousand miles from this world.

Three German engineers, U. T. Bode-wadt, R. Hanisch, and R. Engle, think that the most practical orbit for an artificial satellite is one about 365 miles away. Their calculations indicate that to build a 20man, 510-ton outpost would take about three years and would involve about 375 flights by feeder rockets.

It is interesting to note that despite the many difficulties that must be overcome before an artificial satellite can be placed out in space, the most competent scientists agree that the project is possible.

We should remember, however, that the idea of an artificial satellite was discussed about a generation ago by a German engineer, Herman Oberth. His idea was that the satellite would be a filling station for rocket ships on their way to the moon. He also had the idea of mounting on the satellite a mirror two miles in diameter to catch the rays of the sun and to generate about 10 million horsepower. Oberth pointed out that this giant mirror directed at the earth could boil away small lakes or reduce a community to ashes.

It is indeed sad to note that military needs and the art of destruction have carried the scientists further in the development of rockets and atomic energy than our many peacetime needs.

Note and Comment

"The federal by-elections, the election in Saskatchewan, the election in British Columbia—all bad news for the Liberals. And the election in Quebec still to come," chortles the Ottawa Journal. But what have the provincial elections done for the Conservatives? They elected not one in Saskatchewan, fewer than any other major party in British Columbia—and will they even have candidates in Quebec?

Wisdom On the Farm

An affection invented by those failures who forsook the road to happiness to seek easy success in cities, that the dull-witted stayed on the farms, has ceased to circulate.

Time has proven that it took more wit and wisdom to reap the richer rewards of a farm home than it did to achieve true success in any other calling . . .

The wise young men and women see in the fine art of farming futures full of opportunities and the rich reward of fulfillment.

Woman Against the Sea

Mrs. Anne Davison has left England for the West Indies in a twenty-three-foot vessel, called the Felicity Anne. The last time Mrs. Davison left England in an attempt to cross the Atlantic, she was accompanied by her husband and they sailed in a seventy-foot ketch, called the Reliance.

The Reliance cracked up in a gale in the English Channel and Mr. Davison was drowned trying to reach shore safely. Mrs. Davison survived and has now set out on a second effort—this time alone.

An Atlantic crossing in a sail-boat as small as the twenty-three-footer, which Mrs. Davison is using, is a tricky business and at the mercy—to a large extent—of weather over the Atlantic. Mrs. Davison is heading for the West Indies, in an effort to make use of the prevailing winds and will need all of her skillful seamanship and strong constitution to complete the crossing successfully.

One cannot help admiring Mrs. Davison's courage, even though her judgment might be a bit less deserving of praise.

Perpetual Motion?

Commander Ivan Monk, of the Navy's Bureau of Ships, has obtained a patent for a rotary engine, powered by atmospheric energy. It will run for years without fuel and requires only a small amount of water to operate. The engine draws its power from differences in temperature.

Sealed within the engine is a liquid with a low boiling point that alternately condenses (in a cylinder cooled by evaporation of water from a wick) and vaporizes (in a hollow wheel).

The uneven distribution of liquid in the spokes causes the wheel to turn.

Commander Monk kept a gadget like this in operation on his desk for over a year and now he is convinced that it might operate for many years at a time, as long as there is water. That is, perhaps, the nearest approach to perpetual motion yet developed by man, although the naval officer's gadget is of little practical use.

Brigadier in a Hurry

Commons Hansard

H. W. Herridge (Kootenay West): I was coming to Ottawa for this session, and the train stopped at a prairie city for 40 minutes. Like most people, I got out of the train and walked around the station.

I went to get back about 20 minutes before the train left. A C.P.R. constable was standing there. He said: "I am very sorry but you cannot get on. They are switching sleeping cars, or something." So we stood there. In front of me was a lady with a baby in her arms.

Along came a brigadier and he said: "Stand aside, please." So the lady with her baby in her arms stood aside, and he went on to the platform and got in a coach. I said to the C.P.R. constable: "Why did you let him through and keep the mother with her baby in her arms standing here for 20 minutes?"

He said: "Sorry, sir, that is orders; he is a brigadier." That shows a complete lack of democracy and of the things we stand for.

The wise merchant is he who puts the "ad" in trade.

INCREASED MUNICIPAL DEBTS EXCEED LARGE PROVINCIAL SURPLUSES

By EVA K. COOK

Promise of increased grants to municipalities made by Mr. Manning at his nomination convention has loosened a flood of demands by ratepayers of cities, towns, villages and municipal districts. What is their rightful share of government responsibility? From where should the money come to meet their obligations?

PROVINCIAL REVENUES UP

Bonuses for the right to drill for oil on lands where the mineral rights are vested in the government of Alberta are swelling the bank accounts of the province. Meanwhile the actual drilling, pipeline development and use of exploration equipment has doubled and tripled the financial load on the junior governments, municipal and school.

MUNICIPAL DEBTS UP

Costs of road construction and maintenance, drainage, weed control, schools, telephones, and general administration have increased by leaps and lunges, while the provincial government can brag of surpluses and talk of a debt-free province. But even with taxes increasing, tenfold in some instances, municipal debt has surged up and exceeded the provincial surpluses. The net result to the Alberta ratepayer is an increase in debt rather than any lessening in the demands to pay, and pay.

PROVINCIAL GRANTS UP—BUT

Repeated requests to the provincial cabinet and departmental heads have resulted in nothing more than a generalized stepping-up of government grants. These have not begun to meet the increased demands on the treasuries of local governments. Municipal districts have had their budgets doubled and tripled. Towns and villages have been faced with new housing problems, sanitation, necessitating water mains and sewage systems, and additions to administrative staff and quarters.

IMPOSSIBLE TO CARRY ON

Increased expenditures have reached a point where it is impossible for them to meet the responsibilities imposed by the provincial statutes from the sources permitted by the same statutes. Assessment, taxation, licenses, fees and government grants are the bases for municipal revenue. All these are ringed around by provincial rules, most of which are limiting factors. The Act under which local governments operate are designed for normal conditions. They do not meet the need of transient and sudden expansion.

NEW DEAL DEMANDED

"If returned to power in 1952," Mr. Manning says grants will be increased. Many municipal officers are prepared to deny that grants even if increased can meet the situation. What is urgently needed is a complete survey and reworking of the different acts that lay down the rules covering responsibility and income of municipalities in Alberta.

What is being demanded is decentralization of power, reversing the trend of the last ten years. The ratepayer through his elected representative must have his say. Complete provincial government control with puppet administrators is a present threat in Alberta.

Voice of the People

COOKING VICES

Hardware stores sell aluminum cooking outfits, then drug stores sell remedies for the gas, created by using them, such as tums for the tummy, Bismarck, milk of magnesia, and many more. And then to top it off, when this same gas trouble goes too far and causes sudden death, doctors call it heart attack and cover up the real cause. When a doctor writes heart failure on a death certificate he is the same as under oath and commits—well, you give it the legal term.

Personally I don't believe that doctors know these facts, and to say they do know and hold it away from the people makes it worse.

I paid quite a sum of money to find out these facts, and we almost paid with our lives. Canada, Wake Up. A great legal principle is in danger, i.e. The accused is always held to be innocent until proven guilty. (Or is it?)

The human heart has been accused of violently attacking its owner, without warning and without cause, and with intent to do bodily harm. The public considers the accused as guilty, without trial, just because somebody said so. There is a vast amount of evidence showing that the accused is completely innocent of the charge, because there is another culprit, gas. The heart and lungs are in an air tight compartment known as the thorax, now when you set up a gas pressure inside the thorax, it should be quite obvious that neither heart nor lungs can work, and the coroner says it was heart attack or heart failure, and the people swallow that like a hungry fish, with no apparent desire to know the truth. Canada wake up. In case of heart attack demand to know what infuriated the heart, in case of heart failure demand to know what caused the heart to fail.

Boyle, Alta.

SOCIAL SECURITY

When a fallacy is stated as a fact, particularly by a man in a position of high authority, some effort should be made to present for public consideration the rebuttal opinion.

The Hon. Paul Martin, federal cabinet member, is reported in the press as having told a convention of school trustees, "It has been proved beyond question that, quite apart from what they do to provide increased security and better health and well being for individual citizens, measures of social security have an important effect in giving stability to a nation's economy and acting as a pillar of prosperity."

It is questionable that any of Mr. Martin's assumptions have been "proved beyond question." For one thing, social security measures do not give stability; they are unbalancing to the economy because they are inflationary. They tax away the fruits of labor of the hard-working and thrifty and give them to persons of a lower order of productivity. The latter then have spending money for which they have produced no corresponding volume of goods and services.

Also, in this compulsory transfer of income the government takes part of the money to pay to civil servants who themselves produce nothing. With more and more money chasing fewer and fewer goods, retail prices rise. Statistical proof of what the Canadian government's policy of inflationary social security transfer payments has helped to do to prices is to be found in Canadian government figures. In 1941, when the first social security enactment was placed on the statute books, retail prices were 14.9 per cent above the 1935-39 average. In April of 1952 they were 17.5 per cent above the 1935-39 average.

If the pillar of prosperity of this country is going to be social security payments, our future rests on a very shaky pillar indeed.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Live Disposal Unit

The fancy questionnaire a household appliance company used to survey Iowa housewives brought equally fancy replies. To the question, "What make of garbage disposal unit do you use?" one woman
wrote: "Four hogs."

Use Right Words

There is a great difference between the right word and the word that is almost right. For instance, you can call a woman a kitten, but not a cat; a mouse, but not a rat;
a chicken, but not a hen; a duck,
but not a goose; a vision, but not a sight.

No More, Please

This little girl, had been in mischief all day long, and her mother punished her all day long.

Finally, just before supper, she was especially naughty and sassed
her mother to boot. So for punishment her mother sent her to bed without any supper for being so naughty.

When she was ready for bed,
she knelt to say her prayers. At the end of her prayers her mother was surprised to hear her say:
"And God bless Mommy and Daddy, but please don't send them any more children, 'cause they don't know how to take care of the one they've got!"

AGRICULTURAL FAIRS

The frequent remark of farmers,
"I saw it at the Fair," probably tells best how important agricultural fairs are in creating interest in new solutions to major farm, home, and community problems. In spite of the many changes in rural living in Western Canada that have been brought about in recent years by the mechanization of agriculture, the trend toward larger farm units, and the mobility of farm people the country fair is still an important force in helping to unify our rural communities.

A Vital Activity. The country fair performs functions which no other activity is able to do. It affords farmers an easy and pleasant opportunity to meet their neighbours and local leaders. It gives the farmer and his family an opportunity to display their most highly improved crops, livestock and household arts.
This bringing together of the best farm products of the community not only stimulates a healthy local competitive spirit, but develops the interest of those who see them. In plain words, country fairs stimulate pride in good farming and homemaking, and a desire for community advancement.

Educational Exhibits. No fair is complete without well-planned and attractive educational exhibits—displays which give farmers the latest agricultural information resulting from research and demonstration.
This is the purpose for which the exhibits of the Line Elevators Farm Service are prepared and displayed.
Their main aim is to help solve
major farm and rural-life problems.
This summer our "Agricultural Show on Wheels" will visit many fairs in Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan. A special invitation is extended to farmers and grain buyers to visit our exhibit this summer. And remember too, your Agricultural Society needs and deserves your interest and support.
Let's keep our Agricultural Fairs going! Be sure and "take-in" your own local Fair this year.

Mother's Right

Father: "Mabel, that young man of yours stays too late when he calls. Hasn't your mother something to say to you about that?"
Mabel: "Yes, father, mother says
men haven't changed a bit."

Wrong Method

Composer: "I got tight in order
to compose a new drinking song."
Friend: "Did it work?" Composer: "No. I couldn't get beyond the first two bars."

Knows Everything

Groom: "Now perhaps I'll be permitted to point out a few of your defects."
Bride: "It won't be necessary, darling. I know them. They kept me from getting a better man than
you."

In Case of Accident

The overnight millionaire wanted the best of everything. He went into a music shop and asked to see their most expensive violin for his son. The assistant brought out a beautiful Stradivarius, saying,
"This is a 1730 Strad, priced at $100,000."

The millionaire hesitated a moment, then remarked: "You say it was made in 1730 and that it costs $100,000?"

"That's right."
"But tell me, is the company that made this fiddle still in business?"

"Of course not," exclaimed the assistant in shocked tones.

"Then it's no good," said the rich man, definitely. "What would I do for spare parts?"

Hard of Hearing

The rector was visiting one of his parishioners, an elderly lady, afflicted with deafness. She expressed her regret at not being able to hear his sermons.

Desiring to be sympathetic and to say something consoling, he replied, "You don't miss much."

"So they tell me," was the disconcerting reply.

Life's Sweetest Story

The old couple had just celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Now all the guests were gone, and they sat by the open fireplace, hand in hand, with her head on his shoulder, and reminisced.

"Mary," he said tenderly,
"You're still my sweetheart—in fact, I've never had another sweetheart because I never found anyone as sweet and beautiful as
you."

"Henry," she replied, "you're
as big a liar as ever, and I believe you just the same."

Eleven-Year-Old Voyager Undaunted

VANCOUVER. — An 11-year-old girl, Justice Wilson, of Edinburgh, Scotland, completed a long-cherished dream recently when she travelled unaccompanied to Vancouver to visit her grandmother, Mrs. Martha Fraser.

It all started when her grandmother left Edinburgh to settle in Vancouver five years ago, and Justice dreamed that someday she would visit her. The youngster recently left her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson of Edinburgh, to make her first trans-Atlantic plane trip to Montreal and then board the Canadian National Railways "Continental Limited" to Vancouver.

The idea of travelling alone in a new country didn't scare Justice a bit for she was determined to visit Mrs. Fraser and nothing would sway her from that objective. She will stay for three months, then return to Edinburgh
and to school in the fall, once more travelling alone.

Children are cunning and in manoeuvring to gain their point
more clever than given credit for,
as in the case of my little niece.

Coming to her grandmother, she said, "Grannie, some grandmas are so old and wrinkled and can't do anything. But you are not old and wrinkled, Grannie. You can do anything." Then lifting up her doll she said, "Grannie, will you sew
the arm on my doll?" —G.R.
Sanguda, Alberta.

My little granddaughter, age four,
was out in the yard last spring
when the first thunder storm of the season came up. At the first crash of thunder, the screen door was heard to bang, and into the kitchen she fled. "Oh, Mummie,"
she said, "I just heard the temperature fall." —Mrs. G. Huff, R R 4, Edmonton.

If You Approve Of These Progressive Policies

YOU SHOULD

Vote Liberal On AUGUST 5th

As Liberal candidate for the constituency of Beiseker, I am pledged to support the Program of Progress laid down by Provincial Leader Harper Prowse. If, as a resident of this constituency, and as a taxpayer, you approve of these progressive measures, I ask you to work and vote for my election.

● Municipal Taxation—

A Liberal government would lighten the municipal tax burden by making a full financial partnership with the municipalities. We would share not only the revenues but the responsibilities too.

make use of Alberta's natural resources in Alberta. There will be no export of natural gas until and unless approved by the people themselves in a plebiscite.

● A Better Deal For Education—

Hard pressed school boards would benefit with long-term interest-free loans for school construction. A Liberal administration will provide for equal educational opportunities for all rural school children, with the Province paying 50% of school expenses.

● A New Deal For Alberta Farmers—

Mr. Prowse has consistently stated that a royalty of at least 2½% should be paid to holders of surface rights wherever oil is found, and cash settlement should be made in case of property damage in the search for oil. Immediate start will be made on electrification of 75% to 85% of all Alberta farms with large rural electrification co-ops given interest free loans to expedite the electrification of Alberta farms.

● Adequate Health Program—

A worth-while province-wide hospitalization program will be substituted for the present inadequate "dollar-a-day" hospitalization plan which invariably costs more than $1.00 per day. With free hospitalization for old age pensioners, the dread of ill-health will not plague the lives of our senior citizens.

● A Sound Road Building Program—

During the past four years Albertans have heard countless promises of roads to come. A Liberal government will substitute action for promises of good roads that never materialize under Social Credit. Twice as much as in the past will be contributed to the building of municipal roads.

● Protection Of Our Heritage—

The Liberal party will keep Alberta's natural resources for Albertans. Dissipation and waste of our oil and gas reserves will be prevented, consumers in the province will be protected on the price and supply of natural gas. More new industries will be encouraged to come here and

● Public Business Will Be Made Public—

Liberals believe in keeping the people, the taxpayers, informed on how their government is operating. A Liberal administration under J. Harper Prowse will not keep the public ignorant of what is going on.

MacDonald Points To Dangers Of Absolute Power

In a recent radio broadcast Mr. Hugh John MacDonald, Liberal M.L.A. for Calgary pointed out the dangers of too much control by any one party in the Provincial Government. Here in part is Mr. MacDonald's address:

"To have good government we must have good politics. To protect the freedom of our people, to provide Albertans with opportunity, to have freedom of religion, we must have good politics. And you are the most important person in politics. You are the voter. Whom you elect as your member in the forthcoming election will decide whether you get good representation or otherwise.

"Your government is supposed to be controlled by your representatives in the Legislature in Edmonton. This should be a business that draws on the best talents of the elected members.

"How would you like to do away with the Legislature—do away with Parliament entirely — and place all the power in the hands of one man? Think this over at your leisure — can one man Government ever be good Government? Well — it's not safe Government. It endangers your freedom and your liberties. It could be efficient — but history has shown us that it isn't in the long run. History has shown that the best government exists where the people have tight control of their government through their elected representatives. The elected representatives must exercise this tight control. Without that abuses creep in — waste becomes prevalent. You know the old saying — 'Power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely.'

"If you want good politics you must have a good legislature. And if you want good government you must have good representatives. If you want your tax money spent wisely — with the same consideration as you give to the spending of your money — you must have good representation. Now you can't do this by putting all your trust in one man who is not your representative. No matter how wise he may think he is — he can't be half as wise as 60 good men. It's just that simple. Besides 60 good men can't become dictators — but one man can — we have seen it happen.

"Nobody has ever accused a Liberal government of being a one man government. The way the Liberal party is built that couldn't happen — it wouldn't be a Liberal party. But in Alberta you have a one man government. Now that Mr. Tanner is going to form his own oil company, Mr. Manning is the only strong man in the whole Social Credit party. Does this promise good for the future? How can it? Is any one man so all wise, so all seeing, so all perfect that he can be entrusted with all the power? One man government can be pretty dangerous.

"What is the alternative? I suggest the alternative is to elect members who will stand up on their own two feet no matter what party they belong to. You don't want a yes man. You do not want a man who is prepared to swallow everything that Mr. Manning says. I suggest you want a representative who will think for himself. If every constituency elected such a man there would be no question about our government in Alberta being much better.

"Mr. Manning claims the opposition in the legislature is only an obstruction. I say to you my friend that the opposition is the only control of government there is in the legislature. I don't think that 5 opposition members in a legislature of 60 is enough control. I'm sure you'd get better government if you had 20 members in opposition. Isn't that correct?

"The Liberals offer you a chance of electing good candidates. They offer you a chance of electing representatives who will see that there is some control of government. They offer you, if elected to power, the kind of government that has made Canada a great nation. It is said the pioneers in Alberta were great people. They built this Province. 'I agree.' They had a Liberal government in Edmonton. It did a great job. It made mistakes but it was never a one man government. It had less money to spend in 16 years than this government has had in one year.

"Let us get back to government by our elected members—not by one man. Think it over my friend — I'm convinced that government by the people's representatives is best in the long run."

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

I have been married three years
and my husband and I love each other very much although we have no children and do not think we will ever have any.

We agree on everything but one point and this has hurt me very much so I have decided to write and ask you what you think about my problem.

He has an invalid sister and he has made half of his government insurance over to her. He says that I am young and could get a job and have the other half as a nest egg and she is helpless.

Now, while I realize all of this is true, still I think that everything we have is ours together and he should know that I would take care of his sister if she needed it.
What do you think about this?

—M. G., Ill.

Answer:

I think that when a woman has lived many years with her husband, has reared their family and worked and saved through all those years to make their business a success—then surely what they have is theirs together and for what they have made by their concerted efforts to be taken away from her
just because he goes first is unjust,
unfair and cruel.

But yours is a different situation. Your life is just beginning and if your husband should die tomorrow you are certainly able to earn your living and in all probability would marry again.

Your husband feels a responsibility for his invalid sister. She is helpless and has no one to depend on. You might take care of her but something could happen to you or you could invest your money unwisely and then where would she be in those circumstances?

I really think that you are a little selfish to expect your husband to ignore his sister's condition.
After all, you haven't helped to earn the money that he is leaving to his sister.

If some years from now you have children to care for and support and he is not able to carry more insurance, I think that he should make it over to you with the condition that you give his sister a home.

—LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

My husband doesn't like for me to call on the children to do any chores around the house. He says he had such a hard time when he was a boy that he wants them to be free from house and yard work.

I think this is a great mistake
and we are teaching them to be selfish and expect the world to give them something for nothing.
What do you think?

—ALICE B.

Answer:

I agree with you. Children should be given things to do around the home and accept certain work as their responsibility. This makes them realize that life is not a party where everything is handed out for nothing in return.

People who have had a hard time growing up, so often tend to go too far one way or the other in rearing their children. They either make life too hard for their children too easy.

—LOUISA.

Farm Excursion Fares To Ontario — Only $21.50 Return From Alberta!

For the tenth consecutive year
farm workers from Alberta are required in Ontario, according to E. J. Wilson, manager, National Employment Services, Calgary, Alta.

Low cost fares enable farm workers from any point in Alberta to move to distribution centres in Ontario on payment of $10 only.
Return transportation is available between August 15 and 31 at a cost of $11.50.

The low fares are made possible

by subsidies jointly financed by the province of Ontario and Federal Government, under the Federal-Provincial Farm Labor program and by special tariffs granted by the railways. The Provincial Government also contributes to the success of the project by assisting in recruiting and despatching workers through their farm
help service.

National Employment offices will make all arrangements for the transfer of workers to Ontario.

One bright wonderful Sunday afternoon last June, when just my seven year old cousin and I were at home; I was busy studying for my high school exams. Since it was a beautiful day, my cousin was playing outside with the dog.
Presently, there was a loud knock upon the door and thinking that it was some visitor, I very politely walked to the door, opened it, and said, "Come in." In walked that cousin of mine laughing for all that he was worth and thinking that it was a great joke.

After he had repeated this performance two more times I was determined that if he tried it again I'd pour a basin of water in his face.

Sure enough, a few minutes later
there came once more a knock on the door. So I picked up the basin full of water, walked over to the door and said, "Come in." The door opened and I let the little guy have
it. To my surprise and embarrassment, it was my neighbor, not that little joker.

Revolt In Social Credit Ranks Seen As Threat To Re-election

A growing rift in Social Credit ranks may hamper the government's chances of being re-elected next month, political observers forecast this week.

After 17 years in office the party appears to be heading into its second major internal struggle. The first was set off in 1948 over the cabinet's decision to shove Social Credit reform policies into the background in favor of concentrating on "good government."

The present battle shaping up is partially an outgrowth of the 1948 clash, but is also a result of the government's policy of natural gas export.

SIX LOSE OUT

During the recent nominating conventions, six members of the legislature were denied renomination, and a seventh was expelled from the league. In addition, two other members, once official Social Crediters, are running as Independents. One of the six members denied nomination, is also running as an Independent.

The six denied nomination were H. E. DeBolt, Spirit River; Clayton Adams and Dr. Lou Heard, Edmonton; J. W. Beaudry, St. Paul; V. S. Macle, Stettler; and O. E. Moore, Ponoka.

Mr. DeBolt will seek election as an Independent Social Creditor, along with A. V. Boucier, Lac Ste. Anne, and Arthur Wray, Banff-Cochrane.

In Leduc, R. E. Ansley has been denied support from the league after being expelled for assisting the campaign of Mr. Boucier, but the local Leduc Association is supporting Mr. Ansley and will not put up a candidate against him.

Opposition parties are expected to turn their big guns into the three constituencies with two S.C. candidates, in the hope of picking them off with the Social Credit vote being split.

Both Ansley and Boucier went on record at the last session as opposing natural gas export. The member from St. Paul who failed to gain renomination, clashed with the cabinet over welfare policies of Dr. W. W. Cross, the minister of health and welfare.

The iron hold the cabinet has exerted on S.C. back-benchers is blamed by observers to be the cause of the small-scale "rebellion."

In most cases, the rank and file of the local constituency organizations is siding with the "rebels."

The decision of the Leduc association in defying party bosses at Edmonton was described as "a revolt against subservience to centralized political dictatorship."

Observers at the last session of the legislature noted that S.C. back-benchers voted in strict accordance to orders from the cabinet, and the current rift is seen as the result of members tiring of being dictated to by the cabinet.

The gas export issue was an example of that. Back-benchers who opposed export left the house just before the vote, and abstained from voting. They thus did not defy the cabinet, neither did they vote for something to which they were opposed.

In addition to many rural members being opposed to gas export, one Edmonton S.C. candidate has admitted privately opposition to gas export.

Canada To Have A 'Sweater Queen'

MONTREAL, Que. — Canada's first sweater queen becomes an international ambassador with the announcement today of a trip to Jamaica as an additional prize in the current contest. The queen, who, as previously noted, will spend a gala week in New York, will expand her Good Will Trip to include a week's stay in Jamaica, vacation land of the British West Indies. It is expected, a spokesman of the contest's sponsor, the Grandmere Knitting Co., said today, that as a result of the queen's travel a better knowledge of Canadian style and beauty will be spread. Prizes to the winner of the contest also include a full wardrobe of Canadian fashions.

The queen, who will fly from New York to Montego Bay, Jamaica, via BOAC, will stay at the Tower Isle Hotel located on the site of ancient struggles with the Spanish. A replica of a tower fortress, erected by the Spanish Dons, stands on the tiny islet just offshore from which the hotel takes its name. The queen's reception in the United States has already been indicated in a recent comment in a New York interview with Harry Conover, ace beauty expert who attributes the Canadian girl's high standards of beauty to her more healthful outdoor way of life. The new "Ambassador" is to be selected as the finest in who'some beauty from all Canada.

TAKE YOUR TIME

...NOT YOUR LIFE!

Excessive speed is one of the highest single factors involved in highway fatalities. High speeds resulting in miscalculations in judgment or mechanical failure, cause many daylight accidents. Night driving at a speed beyond your lights step up the killing pace. All these accidents would not happen if one of the drivers involved in each case hadn't judged himself either too smart, too skillful, or too lucky to have an accident.
